BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH

Jim Leek

Jim Leek is a Senior Executive Coach for Ethos Leadership Group, LLC, an executive coaching and employee training consultancy with clients from corporate businesses, institutions of higher learning, non-profit organizations, and political campaigns.

Jim has a rich background in leadership, management, and strategic planning. He leverages his knowledge and experiences to develop young executives.

Jim is the president and CEO of JLA Global, Inc., a technical services company focused on food safety and food performance with twelve offices and laboratories and two agricultural research farms in the United States, Argentina, Brazil, and China.

Prior to founding JLA Global, Inc, Jim served in various capacities at Proctor & Gamble, providing leadership for food operations in marketing, technical services, manufacturing processes, and food product development; developing human resources; coaching new managers in the foods manufacturing operation. Jim led or co-led the successful start-up of fourteen new plants and/or new products during his tenure at Proctor & Gamble.

Jim earned his degree in Chemical Engineering from The University of Tennessee and has completed graduate work at Michigan State University and The University of Tennessee.

Jim is married to Judy, and they have two daughters. When not working with Ethos, Jim enjoys leading his business and raising show horses with Judy.
