BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH

Matt Rush

Matt Rush is the Vice President for Political and Fundraising Campaigns at Ethos Leadership Group, LLC, an executive coaching and employee training consultancy with clients from corporate businesses, institutions of higher learning, non-profit organizations, and political campaigns.

Matt has a rich background in political campaigns, motivational speaking, sales, fundraising, personality profiling, and leadership. He leverages his knowledge and experiences to enhance the professional image of his clients.

Matt is a partner in a ranching operation that averages 150 crossbred cows per year and farms 960 acres of wheat and hay. To support his farming habit, Matt spends the winter months traveling the country and speaking to groups on leadership, as well as the importance of American agriculture.

Matt has been an invited guest of the White House and has been honored on the floor of the New Mexico House of Representatives. In 2003, Matt was selected as the Student in Free Enterprise Alumnus of the Year and in 2005 was chosen as one of four “John J. McCloy” fellows to represent US agriculture on a three-week exchange program with Germany.

Matt attended Lubbock Christian University and studied Agriculture and Business. He currently serves as the President of the Roosevelt County Farm Bureau, and is a member of the New Mexico Beef Council and the American Farm Bureau’s Foundation for Agriculture Board of Directors.

When not working with Ethos, Matt enjoys riding the range, playing with his niece and nephews, and spreading the news that American agriculture is alive and well.
